INTERIOR DESIGNER SOL QUINTANA WAGONER BRINGS CONTEMPORARY CALM TO A RENOVATED DEL MAR SHOWPIECE

SOL QUINTANA WAGONER WAS BORN AND RAISED IN ARGENTINA. She was involved in the design of various projects in Buenos Aires before moving to Southern California where she now practices her passion for artistic home design. A recognized design innovator, Sol is a Senior Designer with Jackson Design and Remodeling. This Del Mar renovation project named "Architectural Artistry" with panoramic views of the Pacific landed Sol two more awards: a GOLD Master Design Award, and a Contractor of the Year award in the additions category for 2017.

The homeowners wanted to embrace the beauty of their natural surroundings while respecting the significant architectural integrity of their home. With no land to expand on, Sol's imaginative design was achieved by the relocation of the kitchen and an addition on the second level.

The home conveys a memorable visual statement with indoor/outdoor living that is enhanced by an open design. With the removal of interior walls, the home now contains floor-to-ceiling folding glass doors to emphasize the connection to the outdoors. Spectacular details of the outdoor living space include a louvered roof, glass side panels, infrared heating elements, fireplace, entertainment center and barbecue area making it a comfortable home for all seasons.
